

FIRST EDITION BEECHER'S BACK DOWN.

The Richardson and McFarland Drama from the Standpoint of Plymouth. Pulpit-Mr. Beecher's Explanation Delivered at the Church Lecture Room Last Night.

The weekly evening lecture was held last night at Plymouth Church, Brooklyn. The ordinary service, including the "Lecture Room Talk," was conducted and given by the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher.

Upon this gentleman connected with the church got up and said that it was not proper and just that a public matter in regard to the playing of the piano should be discussed in the lecture room.

Mr. Beecher then sat down, after which there was a general feeling of indignation and indignation against him to come out and declare himself more than he had already done.

For some time the unfortunate fellow has been addicted to excessive drinking, causing him to neglect his business that a short time since he was in the habit of playing the piano.

Mr. Beecher resumed—Mrs. Calhoun showed him a note from Mr. Richardson and Mr. McFarland to perform the marriage. In conversation she said that she had known Mrs. McFarland and believed that she was a woman of high character.

On that evening he had been spending two or three hours with Mrs. Richardson and Mr. McFarland. There he found a corridor full of friends and a weeping group around the bed.

At the time of the marriage at the Astor House he had not understood the nature of the ceremony. He had been told that it was a legal one.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

At the time of the marriage at the Astor House he had not understood the nature of the ceremony. He had been told that it was a legal one.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

Mr. Beecher then sat down, after which there was a general feeling of indignation and indignation against him to come out and declare himself more than he had already done.

For some time the unfortunate fellow has been addicted to excessive drinking, causing him to neglect his business that a short time since he was in the habit of playing the piano.

Mr. Beecher resumed—Mrs. Calhoun showed him a note from Mr. Richardson and Mr. McFarland to perform the marriage. In conversation she said that she had known Mrs. McFarland and believed that she was a woman of high character.

On that evening he had been spending two or three hours with Mrs. Richardson and Mr. McFarland. There he found a corridor full of friends and a weeping group around the bed.

At the time of the marriage at the Astor House he had not understood the nature of the ceremony. He had been told that it was a legal one.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

At the time of the marriage at the Astor House he had not understood the nature of the ceremony. He had been told that it was a legal one.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

At the time of the marriage at the Astor House he had not understood the nature of the ceremony. He had been told that it was a legal one.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

At the time of the marriage at the Astor House he had not understood the nature of the ceremony. He had been told that it was a legal one.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

At the time of the marriage at the Astor House he had not understood the nature of the ceremony. He had been told that it was a legal one.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

Mr. Beecher then sat down, after which there was a general feeling of indignation and indignation against him to come out and declare himself more than he had already done.

For some time the unfortunate fellow has been addicted to excessive drinking, causing him to neglect his business that a short time since he was in the habit of playing the piano.

Mr. Beecher resumed—Mrs. Calhoun showed him a note from Mr. Richardson and Mr. McFarland to perform the marriage. In conversation she said that she had known Mrs. McFarland and believed that she was a woman of high character.

On that evening he had been spending two or three hours with Mrs. Richardson and Mr. McFarland. There he found a corridor full of friends and a weeping group around the bed.

At the time of the marriage at the Astor House he had not understood the nature of the ceremony. He had been told that it was a legal one.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

At the time of the marriage at the Astor House he had not understood the nature of the ceremony. He had been told that it was a legal one.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

At the time of the marriage at the Astor House he had not understood the nature of the ceremony. He had been told that it was a legal one.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

At the time of the marriage at the Astor House he had not understood the nature of the ceremony. He had been told that it was a legal one.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

At the time of the marriage at the Astor House he had not understood the nature of the ceremony. He had been told that it was a legal one.

Mr. Beecher said he supposed she did, and therefore he married them. At the time he inquired whether fourteen and twelve are not the ages at which persons could be legally married.

SECOND EDITION FROM THE WEST.

Terrible Murder in Scranton—A Man Kills His Brother-in-law—Statement of the Prisoner.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, this community was startled by the murder of a man named Hugh Carmichael, who, with his wife and four children, resided on Wyoming avenue.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, this community was startled by the murder of a man named Hugh Carmichael, who, with his wife and four children, resided on Wyoming avenue.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, this community was startled by the murder of a man named Hugh Carmichael, who, with his wife and four children, resided on Wyoming avenue.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, this community was startled by the murder of a man named Hugh Carmichael, who, with his wife and four children, resided on Wyoming avenue.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, this community was startled by the murder of a man named Hugh Carmichael, who, with his wife and four children, resided on Wyoming avenue.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, this community was startled by the murder of a man named Hugh Carmichael, who, with his wife and four children, resided on Wyoming avenue.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, this community was startled by the murder of a man named Hugh Carmichael, who, with his wife and four children, resided on Wyoming avenue.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, this community was startled by the murder of a man named Hugh Carmichael, who, with his wife and four children, resided on Wyoming avenue.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, this community was startled by the murder of a man named Hugh Carmichael, who, with his wife and four children, resided on Wyoming avenue.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, this community was startled by the murder of a man named Hugh Carmichael, who, with his wife and four children, resided on Wyoming avenue.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, this community was startled by the murder of a man named Hugh Carmichael, who, with his wife and four children, resided on Wyoming avenue.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 11.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, this community was startled by the murder of a man named Hugh Carmichael, who, with his wife and four children, resided on Wyoming avenue.

FROM THE WEST.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

FROM THE WEST.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.

Philadelphia Trade Reports. SATURDAY, Dec. 10.—Bread is firm, and is sold at $2.50 per ton.